Syllabus
ST515
Fall 2015
Dr. Douglas F. Kelly
Reformed Theological Seminary
Course Overview
Systematic I-ST515

TEXTBOOKS:
The Bible
The Westminster Confession of Faith
Louis Berkhof, Systematic Theology
Norman Geisler, ed., Inerrancy
Norman Geisler and Abdul Saleeb, Answering Islam: The Crescent in Light of the Cross
Herman Bavinck, The Doctrine of God
Douglas Kelly, Creation and Change
Douglas Kelly, Systematic Theology, Volume 1
John Calvin, Institutes of the Christian Religion

STRUCTURE OF THE COURSE:
Lectures and readings will deal with three major topics:

A. RELIGION, REVELATION, AND SCRIPTURE
First, we study the basis of Systematic Theology in God's revelation of Himself. We discuss the capacity God has given us to know Him and thus the origin of religion. Then, we consider general and special revelation, inspiration, inerrancy and perspicuity of Scripture.

Required reading for Religion, Revelation and Scripture:

The Westminster Confession of Faith, chapter 1.
Syllabus material by D. Kelly on "Religious Language and the Canon." P. 17-ff
Norman Geisler, Inerrancy, pp. 3-354. You will specifically be tested on chapters 3-5, 7 of Geisler in your take home exam.

B. THEOLOGY PROPER
Here we study the essential nature of God, His knowability, His names and attributes (both communicable and incommunicable). We give special attention to the Scriptural basis and historical development of the doctrine of the Trinity. Next, we discuss the works of God in terms of His decrees, creation and providence.

Required reading for Theology Proper:
1. The Person of God
Douglas Kelly, Systematic Theology, Vol I, Ch. 4, 5, 7, 8, 9 [no appendices required.]

2. The Work of God:
a. Election
Herman Bavinck, The Doctrine of God, 337-407.
b. Creation
Douglas Kelly, Creation and Change, chapters 1-3.
The Westminster Confession of Faith, chapters 2-4.
Syllabus material by D. Kelly on "Creation."
You will specifically be tested on Kelly, Systematic Theology, Vol. I., chapters 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, as well as Kelly, Creation and Change, chapters 1, 2, and 3 on the take home exam.

C. ANTHROPOLOGY

First, we study the exegetical basis and theological implications of man in his original state (his creation, nature, and relation to God), and man in his state of sin (fall and resultant condition). Second, we consider man in his state of salvation, with stress on the plan of salvation, and in particular, the covenant of grace.

Required reading for Anthropology:

The Westminster Confession of Faith, chapters 4, 6, 7, 9, 19.

PROCEDURE:

It is our intention to base the content of this survey of doctrine on the exegesis of Scripture. We will be making continual reference to the Reformed Tradition, and will deal with the Patristic heritage where this has particular relevance. Reference will be made to other theological traditions and periods as well. All through, we shall attempt to relate these truths to contemporary life, thought, and ministry.

REQUIREMENTS:

A. Attend all classes and learn the content conveyed in the lectures.

B. Complete the required reading.

C. Three exams, each worth 23.75% of the course grade.
   a. A mid-term exam covering what has been done up to that point. This exam should last between one and two hours and will be taken in class on Thursday, October 1, 2014.

   c. A final exam, covering what has been done since the mid-term, to be taken during finals week. It should take about two hours, though you may have more time if you wish.

D. 8 -10 page term paper on topics listed in this syllabus, worth 23.75% of course grade. Due by 4 PM on Friday, October 2, 2015.

E. 5 page book review of Norman Geisler and Abdul Saleeb, Answering Islam: The Crescent in Light of the Cross. This review is to be an accurate summary of the book to show that you read it, without merely quoting it; do not just string together quotes or cite large blocks of text instead of truly summarizing. Worth 5% of course grade. Due at the beginning of class on Thursday, November 19, 2015.
Term Paper for ST: Scripture, Theology Proper, Anthropology

This paper should be 8-10 pages in length (typed and double-spaced) with appropriate footnoting and bibliography. Do not include a string of long quotations. Make sure you (1) deal with the relevant information competently and fairly to all sides, and (2) interact with the material yourself so that you demonstrate that you have "thought about it theologically." (3) Have a proper introduction and conclusion and a clear structure for your essay. (4) Use good grammar and write clearly. (5) Use 8 sources, and footnote, where appropriate.

Choose 1 out of 5 options.

(1) Prepare an exegetically-based theological paper on relevant sections of the first two chapters of Romans, with special reference to the knowledge of God held by pagans. What are the implications of this knowledge for societal morals, for final judgment, and for the missionary enterprise?

(2) Discuss the central Trinitarian truth of \textit{circumincession} or \textit{perichoresis} for "mutual indwelling"). What does this mean within the Godhead? What are its wider implications for the corporate life of Christians? Be sure to deal with scriptural passages. (You may wish to consult pp. 20-22 of your Systematic Theology I syllabus; T. F. Torrance's \textit{Trinitarian Faith} and John Ziziolas' \textit{Being as Communion}).

(3) Discuss the basic Biblical teaching on marriage as "one flesh" (refer to appropriate Biblical texts such as Genesis 2, Matthew 19, Ephesians 5, etc.). Particularly deal with this current problem: in light of what marriage was designed to be, why do so many of them go astray? Discuss why people are attracted to one another; then why problems in their marriage develop, and especially, how to deal with such problems in light of God's grace and purpose. You may wish to refer to such works as:

- R.C. Sproul, \textit{The Intimate Marriage}
- L. Crabb, \textit{The Marriage Builder}
- E. Worthington, \textit{Counseling Before Marriage}
- D. and R. Friesen, \textit{Counseling and Marriage}
- H. Hendrix, \textit{Getting the Love You Want}

(4) Compare and contrast the Christian view of God as Triune and the Islamic view of God as one (either unipersonal or an impersonal monad).

(5) Interact with William Vandoedewaard, \textit{The Quest for the Historical Adam}, and give your response as to whether it is important that the historical Adam did or did not exist.
RTS Charlotte Classroom Internet Usage

RTS Charlotte recognizes how essential it is for students to have reliable, campus-wide access to the internet. For that reason, we have made wi-fi available for our student body, not only in the library and student lounges, but also in the classrooms. We know that students need to use the internet to download class materials, access files on the Cloud, and to access other important information.

However, we also recognize that internet access in the classroom provides opportunity for abuse and misuse. Some students have unfortunately used their internet access to engage in many activities that distract them from the classroom lectures (e.g., surfing the web, checking sports scores, playing games). Not only does such activity hamper a student’s own seminary education, but it distracts other students who can see their computer screens. In addition, donors and classroom guests (who often sit in the back) can see this inappropriate internet usage, which reflects poorly on RTS.

So, how can these challenges be addressed? One option is to turn off the internet entirely. But, we recognize that this creates problems for students who use it for legitimate reasons. Thus, we prefer to address this problem by appealing to the integrity of the students as ones who are preparing for a lifetime of ministry to Christ and his church. We are asking each student to take personal responsibility for their behavior in this area and to encourage others around them to do the same.

In order to encourage this accountability, and to change the culture of the campus as it pertains to the internet, we are asking each student to sign the pledge below at the beginning of each term. As a pledge, we ask you to sign with integrity and with an honest desire to keep it.

“On my honor as a student at Reformed Theological Seminary, and as a one preparing for the gospel ministry, I pledge that I will use the internet in the classroom only for appropriate class-related activities.”
