

GLOBALIZATION AND CONTEXTUALIZATION IN INTERCULTURAL MINISTRY
Reformed Theological Seminary

October 27-30, 2009

Professor of Record: Associate Professor, Eunsoo Kim, Ph.D.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

3 hours. Examines current globalization theory with special attention to its significance for missiology and local ministry. Explores creative tensions between globalization and localization and introduces models of contextualization in intercultural ministry.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: Course participants will demonstrate the following competencies:

1. Awareness of the Church's kairos within the chronos of redemptive history and the significance of the processes of modernity and globalization for missions at the threshold of the Third Millennium.
2. Familiarity with important theories and issues of globalization (including economic, technological, cultural, political, and religious aspects) and antiglobalization for more effective intercultural ministry.
3. Familiarity with important contextualization theories and issues (McQuilkin, Schreiter, Dyrness, Hiebert) and their presuppositions and contributions to intercultural ministry.
4. Development of critical comprehension of globalization/contextualization theory as applied to both general and specific intercultural ministry settings.
