

4ST615: The Doctrine of Baptism

Summer 2010

Dr. J. V. Fesko

Contact information to be provided

Course Description

This course is an elective study of the doctrine of baptism. It covers the history of the doctrine from the patristics through the modern period. It also surveys the doctrine from the biblical theological perspective. It concludes with a positive systematic theological construction of the doctrine. Subjects covered include the development of the doctrine, baptism as a means of grace, as a sacrament, the doctrine itself, the recipients, as well as the question of whether baptisms of the Roman Catholic Church are valid.

Class Schedule

July 20-23 (Tues – Fri) from 8.30 am - 4.30 pm

Student Evaluation

- Required reading (20%): you must submit the percentage of the required reading that you have accomplished on the top of your final exam. Failure to report your reading percentage will result in a zero recorded for this portion of your evaluation. You may have one extra month from the last day of class to complete your reading (i.e., prophetic reading reports are permissible).
- Class participation (20%): part of your grade will depend upon your participation in class, whether by answering questions when called upon, asking questions, or participating in discussion.
- Final examination (60%): The final exam will be distributed on the last day of class. You will have two weeks from the last day of class to submit your exam (Friday, 5 August 2010). Submit your exam to me via e-mail by no later than the end of the day. The exam will consist of five essay questions, from which you will select two. You will respond to the two questions with one-page typed response for each question (two pages total). Employ relevant exegesis, terminology, history, and theological argumentation in your response.

Academic Policies

Class academic policies are those that are outlined in the current RTS Course Catalog (grading scale, class attendance policy, conduct, and examination policies).

Taping of Class Lectures

You are not permitted to tape class lectures.

Obtaining Class Lecture Notes in event of an absence

You are responsible for obtaining lecture notes in the event of your absence from a fellow student. The professor will not provide lecture notes.

Failure to turn in required materials

In the event that you fail to turn in required assignments, you will receive the grade of an “F.” In the event that you need a time extension, you must obtain an official extension request form from the administration, which must be approved by the professor and academic dean. If an extension is granted, you will receive an “INC” until all assignments are completed. Extensions will be granted only in the event of extenuating circumstances such as severe illness or death in the family.
