Bibliography

*Adam, Peter. Speaking God’s Words: A Practical Theology of Expository Preaching. Downers Grove, IL: InterVarsity Press, 1999. Peter Adam, vicar of St. Jude’s, Carlton in Melbourne, Australia, lays a solid theological foundation for preaching that insists on three great pillars: God has spoken, his words are recorded in Scripture and he commissions people to “explain, preach and teach his written words to their contemporaries.” Highly Recommended.

Adams, Jay E. Pulpit Speech. Nutley, NJ: Presbyterian and Reformed, 1971. Analyzes several important features such as organizing content and acquiring a personal and distinct style.

*Adams, Jay E. Preaching to the Heart: A Heart-to-Heart Discussion with Preachers of the Word. Phillipsburg, NJ: Presbyterian and Reformed, 1983. This little booklet is worth its weight in gold. Rare is the pulpit ministry that aims intentionally from the heart to the heart.

Aden, Leroy H. & Robert G. Hughes Preaching God’s Compassion Fortress, 2002

Allen, Ronald J., Barbara Shires Blaisdell and Scott Black Johnston. Theology for Preaching: Authority, Truth and Knowledge of God in a Postmodern Ethos. Nashville, TN: Abingdon, 1997. Helpful in the way it addresses what the authors term “folk postmodernism,” or that kind of worldview which most ministers face week by week. Encourages the style of conversation and dialogue. May provoke more conservative readers but it could help them think more deeply about their audience in preaching.

*Azurdia, Arturo G., III. Spirit-Empowered Preaching: Involving the Holy Spirit in Your Ministry. Inverness, Scotland: Christian Focus Publications, 1998. This is a rare gem and one of the most important volumes on preaching in years.

*Broadus, John A Rev. by Vernon L. Stanfield. On the Preparation and Delivery of Sermons. San Fransisco: Harper & Row, 1979. For well over a century this has been a standard in the field of homiletics. Though a little dated, every preacher should read this book at least once.

*Brooks, Phillips. Lectures on Preaching. London: H. R. Allenson, 1904. Frequently reprinted over the years, this is a true "classic." Given originally as the 1871 lectures in the famous Yale Series on Preaching named after Lyman Beecher. Brooks defined preaching as, "Truth through personality."

Capon, Robert Farrar. The Foolishness of Preaching: Preaching the Gospel Against the Wisdom of the World. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1998. Capon, an Episcopalian priest, has written a number of popular books, especially a trilogy on the parables. This is a fresh and original work.

*Chappell, Bryan. Christ-Centered Preaching: Redeeming the Expository Sermon. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1994. This is one of the five best contemporary books on preaching in print. A must for every preacher who would handle Scripture in a proper manner.
Using Illustrations to Preach with Power. (Revised edition) Crossway, 2001. Another gem from Chapell in which he argues that the best illustrations are real-life ones. Chapell takes us through a step-by-step analysis of the choice and crafting of “windows” that throw light onto our sermons. Excellent.

Clowney, Edmund P. Preaching and Biblical Theology. Nutley, NJ:
Presbyterian & Reformed, 1975. Masterful. OUP.

Preaching Christ in All of Scripture (Wheaton, IL: Crossway, 2003).
What need one say except that Clowney is passionate about seeing Christ exegetically and hermeneutically in the Old Testament.
Whether one agrees with him or not, every Reformed preacher must read these sermons.

About gathering information about the congregation in order to preach more effectively. Will irritate as much as it will inform.

Fant, Clyde E. Preaching for Today. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. Surveys every aspect of preaching from the role of the preacher to sermon construction and pulpit delivery. Fant was professor at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, and co-editor of the thirteen-volume Twenty Centuries of Great Preaching.

Forde, Gerhard O. Theology Is for Proclamation. Minneapolis: Augsburg Fortress, 1990. Forde, a professor of systematic theology at Luther Seminary in Minneapolis, is a grand write who understands the place of preaching in the church.

Goldsworthy, Graeme. Preaching the Whole Bible as Christian Scripture. (Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 2000). This is a similar work to Greidanus’ Preaching Christ from the Old Testament. Excellent treatment and worth purchasing.
