

RTS Atlanta

COURSE: 4DM901 Doctoral Project Research Methodologies

CREDIT: 3 credit hours

PROFESSOR: Howoo Howard Lee, Ph.D.

SESSION: Summer Term, August 1-4, 2011

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will assist the student to understand the required components of the D.Min. Project and the proper presentation of an acceptable proposal. It also will describe the research methods and resources appropriate to various components of the project. Class sessions will consist of both lecture and dialogue with students on their specific topics. Included in the course will be some mandatory research time in the library for building one's bibliography.

GRADING

1. Class Attendance & Participation(20%)
2. Class Workshops & Presentation(30%)
3. Final Paper(50%)

CLASS WORKSHOPS

1. One Field Project Paper(10%)
2. One Footnotes and Bibliography Paper(10%)
3. One Proposal Paper(10%)

FINAL PAPER

1. It will be discussed at the first class.
2. Due on November 30, 2011(howlee21@hotmail.com)

TEXT BOOK

Turabian, Kate L. 1996. A Manual for Writers of Term Paper, Theses, and Dissertation. 6th ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press.

Turabian Style (주 참고문헌), 2006. 김남석 역, 학술논문 서지기술 시리즈 IV, 계명대학교출판부.

김기흥. 2001. 논문장성 이렇게 하라. 개정증보판. 서울: 시대의 창.

SCHEDULE

Class	Aug 1(Mon)	Aug 2(Tue)	Aug 3(Wed)	Aug 4(Thu)
Class 0 8:00-8:30	Devotional	Devotional	Devotional	Devotional
Class 1 8:30-9:30	RTS D.Min. Project Process	Writing Skill	Quotations & Paraphrases	Plagiarism
Class 2 9:45-10:45	RTS D.Min. Project	Writing Skill	Using Online Resources	Proposal Workshop
Class 3 11:00-12:00	RTS D.Min. Project	Book & Article Review	Footnotes Workshop	Proposal Workshop
Class 4 1:30-2:30	RTS D.Min. Proposal	Review Practice	Footnotes Workshop	Proposal Workshop
Class 5 2:45-3:45	Research Skill	Field Project Workshop	Bibliography Workshop	Proposal Evaluation
Class 6 4:00-5:00	Research Skill	Field Project Workshop	Bibliography Workshop	Wrap-up