Travel Insurance: The participant is responsible for making the decision about travel insurance. Usually the travel insurance must be purchased within a few days of making of the initial payment if you want pre-existing conditions covered. There are several sources of trip insurance which is usually based on the age of the insured and the price of the tour. A website about travel insurance that you may want to review is www.travelex-insurance.com. Again, the participant the decision to purchase or not purchase trip insurance is left up to the tour participant. The only cause for getting a refund from RTS will be that the tour would be cancelled. In that case, all funds paid to RTS will be refunded. The price of $3780 is based on 25 paying participants. An upward adjustment in the tour cost may be made if fewer sign up.

General Information: The cost of the tour includes airfare from JFK in New York City to Athens and return from Athens. You will be responsible for paying for your travel from your location to JFK. Some may want to use Frequent Flyer points. The tour costs also includes deluxe coach transportation, plus all hotel rooms, breakfasts included in the hotel price plus a four day cruise with all meals covered as we visit Ephesus, Rhodes and Patmos and all entry fees.
