D.Min. Module for Reformed Theological Seminary–Charlotte

A.) Objectives for this course include:
   1) A knowledge of the key English Puritans in the development of Reformed piety;
   2) A sense of the trends in the historical development of both individual and corporate piety in 16th- and 17th-century Britain;
   3) Understanding of the Puritans’ use of prayer and worship, of their teaching on assurance and the sovereignty of God, and of the relationship between the Word, the mind, and the “affections”;
   4) Application of principles of Puritan piety to contemporary religious life.

B.) Methods

The course will be conducted in seminar fashion, with the professor providing lectures on selected topics and with students participating in discussion of the assigned readings and later preparing research papers.

C.) Requirements

   1) Faithful attendance is expected. It is assumed that each student will be present and prepared for participation unless there are extenuating circumstances reported to the professor.
   2) Each student will prepare a research paper of approximately 25 pages (double-spaced) in length, which is due by October 15. (If possible, copies will be sent to each of the other students in the class.)
   3) Upon receipt of the other students’ papers (if possible), each student will prepare a one-page comment on each of the other papers and will mail comments to the professor within one week of receipt of the other papers.
